

List of Authors

Soliu Bidemi Adegboyega is a lecturer in the Department of Economics, Olabisi Onabanjo University, Ago Iwoye, Nigeria. He obtained his first degree in Economics (B.Sc.) from Olabisi Onabanjo University, Master of Science (M.Sc.) from University of Ibadan, Master of Philosophy (M.Phil) and Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D) from Obafemi Awolowo University, Ile-Ife, Nigeria. He has published over 35 articles in peer-reviewed journals, including prestigious outlets like the Tanzanian Economic Review, African Development Review, Wiley Online, SN Bus Eco and the North American Journal of Economics and Finance among others. His research focuses on topics such as financial flows, economic growth, current account dynamics, and the shadow economy, utilizing advanced econometric techniques. With over 10 years of teaching experience at the university level, offering courses in mathematics for economists, development economics, advanced microeconomics, and econometric methods.

Jaka Aminata is an economist with extensive experience in academia, research, and consultancy. He has worked at Diponegoro University for 22 years and currently serves as the Head of the Economics Study Program at Diponegoro University, where he also lectures in undergraduate and postgraduate programs. With a strong focus on labor economics, corporate social responsibility, and energy economics, Jaka has collaborated with organizations such as the International Labour Organization, ASEAN Center for Energy, and FAO. His academic journey includes a PhD from Université Sorbonne Paris, and he has held visiting lecturer positions at institutions like Tunghai University and Université Paris 13.

Maria Banu is currently completing her Ph.D. in Philosophy at the University of Bucharest, Romania. In her thesis, she develops an integrative conceptual framework for the study of trust in the social sciences. Her research interests cover interpersonal and social trust, human decision-making and behavior, as well as their influence on society and policy-making. Maria holds a Master's degree in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics, along with Bachelor's degrees in Philosophy, and International Relations and European Studies. She works as a consultant with a tier one company in the field, advising authorities in the government and public sector. She specializes in public policy design, monitoring, and evaluation.

Alessandro Bonifazi is a doctoral researcher in Geopolitics and Geoeconomics of Infrastructure at Niccolò Cusano University in Rome. He holds Master's degrees in International Relations, International Economics, and Conference Interpreting and Translation (Mandarin-English) and specialised in postgraduate training in logistics, geopolitical analysis, and space policy. His academic and professional experience includes research and institutional engagements with the Lazio Regional Council, CONFITARMA (Italian Shipowners' Confederation), and the Canadian Chamber in Italy. His scholarly interests focus on strategic infrastructures, maritime governance, and the geopolitical dimensions of outer space.

Guido Capanna Piscè, PhD, serves as Adjunct Professor at the Carlo Bo University of Urbino, collaborating with the DISCUI (Department of Communication Sciences, Humanities and International Studies) and DESP (Department of Economics, Society and Politics) departments. His specialisation encompasses the Sociology of Communication and Tourism. He functions as a Verifier for the Europarc Federation's European Charter for Sustainable Tourism and coordinates the implementation of this Charter at the Parco Naturale Regionale Sirente Velino. He is also a registered journalist and works as a business trainer and professional consultant. His consultancy practice focuses on sustainable tourism development, active tourism initiatives, and strategic destination management and communications.

Emanuela Conti is a senior assistant professor (tenure) in Economics and Business Management at the Department of Economics, Society and Politics (DESP) of the Carlo Bo University of Urbino where she teaches Corporate Communication and Digital Marketing. She holds a Ph.D. in Economics and Business Management from the Polytechnic University of Ancona, and an MPhil in Business Administration from the University of Manchester. Her current research interests focus on digital marketing, design-driven innovation and cultural heritage management

Mbondo Georges Dieudonné is Professor of Economics at the University of Douala, Cameroon.

Ayodele Benjamin Folorunso is senior Professor in the Department of Economics, Obafemi Awolowo University, Ile-Ife, Nigeria. His teaching is anchored around Economic Theory, Applied Econometrics, Mathematical Economics and Research Methods, Monetary Policies and Development Economics. He holds a B.Sc., M.Sc. and Ph.D Economics from the Obafemi Awolowo University, Ile-Ife. He has over 24 years of teaching experience at the university level, offering courses in microeconomics theory, development economics, advanced macroeconomics, and applied econometric methods.

Oladeji, Sunday Idowu is the most senior Professor in the Department of Economics, Obafemi Awolowo University, Ile-Ife, Nigeria where he teaches Development Economics and Planning, Labour/ Human Resource Economics. He holds a B.Sc. Economics from the University of Ibadan, an M.Sc. (Economics) in Operational Research from the London School of Economics and Political Science (University of London, UK) and a Ph.D. (Economics) from the Obafemi Awolowo University, Ile-Ife. His research interests extend to several aspects of Development Economics and Planning: Economics of Education and Human Resource Development, Employment and Labour Market Issues, and Economics of the Informal Sector. His current research interest is focused on the issues of Research and Development as well as the Economics of Science and Technology Policy in Nigeria.

Birgit Helene Jevnaker is a professor emeritus in Innovation and Economic Organization at BI Norwegian Business School, Department of Leadership and Organizational Behaviour. Birgit Helene holds a Ph.D. on designer and enterprise relations from BI, and a MSc/civil economics from Norwegian School of Economics. Publications are within strategic design, innovation, entrepreneurship, knowledge management, organization development. She won the EURAM Best Book Award in 2023. She has also developed and led awarded leadership executive programs.

Mbatounga Hervé Mpouamze is a doctoral student at the University of Douala/Cameroon, where he is preparing a thesis in applied microeconomics. He is also a member of the Research Group in Theoretical and Applied Economics, led by Pr Mbondo Georges Dieudonné.

Mubanga Mpundu is a Senior Lecturer in economics at University of the Western Cape, South Africa. He holds a PhD in Economics from NWU, a Master of Commerce in Economics (Cum Laude) from NWU, a Bachelor of Commerce Honours in Economics as well as a Bachelor of Arts in Economics. He is a member of the Economics Society of South Africa, Economics Association of Zambia, South African Comparative and History of Education Association and Golden Key International Honour Society. His research interests span across the areas of financial economics, Macroeconomics, economics of education, public policy and econometrics. He has and continues to work under various research projects and supervises postgraduate research students. He has presented his work at various local and international conferences and continues to be an active researcher.

Umunna Godson Nwagu is affiliated with the Economics department at the University of Nigeria, Nsukka. He obtained a Bsc/Ed in Education Economics from the University of Nigeria in 2009, followed by a Master's degree in Quantitative Economics in 2018. Additionally, he holds a Doctorate degree from Nnamdi Azikiwe University Akwa, Nigeria, which he completed in 2024. His research interests encompass Quantitative Economics, Monetary Economics, Development Economics, Public finance Economics, Macroeconomics, and Health Economics. He has contributed to various national and international journals and have presented papers at conferences. He has experience in teaching economics at different educational levels and have supervised students in their research endeavors. He has served as a reviewer for various national and international journals.

Luca Olivari is a Research Fellow at the Carlo Bo University of Urbino, Department of Economics, Society and Politics, and a PhD student at the Faculty of Tourism and Geography of the University Rovira i Virgili of Tarragona. He is the current Local Officer for the Municipality of San Benedetto del Tronto in the context of the European Commission's Intelligent Cities Challenge, and a sustainable tourism development expert for the international ISOSPAM project. He specialises in sustainable tourism destination development and applying visual semiotics methodologies for promoting natural tourism entities.

Olabode Philip Olofin is a Professor in the Department of Economics, Obafemi Awolowo University, Ile-Ife, Nigeria. His teaching anchored around Economic Theory, Applied Econometrics, Mathematical Economics and Research Methods, Monetary Policies and Development Economics. He holds a B.Sc., M.Sc. and Ph.D. Economics from the Obafemi Awolowo University, Ile-Ife. His research over the years anchored on Development Economics, and Monetary Economics.

Ioannis Sitzimis is a graduate of the departments of "Economic Sciences" and "Hellenic Culture". He holds two master's degrees specializing in "Maritime Economics and Policy" and "Administration and Training in Education" and a PhD in "Maritime science". He is currently an assistant professor in the Department of Business Administration and Tourism at the Hellenic Mediterranean University. His teaching experience concerns 7 years in higher education and about 20 years in secondary education. Academically, he published 12 articles in scientific journals and he have participated in 6 international conferences and workshops. His scientific interests are mainly related to "Transport Economics" (with an emphasis on shipping) and "Educational Economics". For the time being, he is General Secretary at the Maritime Museum of Crete.

Laerte Sorini is associate professor at the Carlo Bo University of Urbino where he teaches I teach Mathematics, Statistics, and Information Technology. He is Rectoral Delegate for Technological Innovation and Digitalization at Urbino University and Director of the research center "Urbino e la Prospettiva", which intends to establish itself as a place of excellence for research on the roots of the modern scientific revolution.

Gabriella Gadisindies Taracakti is an economics graduate from Diponegoro University in Indonesia. Her studies focused on environmental and economic policy. She actively participated in student organizations and competitions, demonstrating her enthusiasm for environmental policy and sustainable development. Gabriella gained experience through internship and research in key roles at national development institutions, such as the Otoritas Jasa Keuangan and the Ministry of National Development Planning (Bappenas). Her focus was on green development and policy formulation, demonstrating her commitment to advancing Indonesia's green economy and regional development. She has also been actively engaged in social and environmental volunteering, reflecting her dedication to sustainable development and green initiatives. Gabriella aims to utilize her expertise to contribute to Indonesia's progress in achieving sustainable economic growth.

Enrico Ubiali, PhD., is Postdoctoral Researcher in Political Science at the Università degli Studi di Bergamo, Italy and Teaching scholar in Political Communication and International Political Economy. He has been Visiting Researcher at Universidad de Murcia (ES) in 2024.

Tryson Yangailo is an economist, researcher and consultant with extensive and proven work experience in research, publishing, data analysis, administration, strategic planning, budgeting, banking, monitoring and evaluation and project management. He is currently working for the Tanzania Zambia Railway Authority as a strategic planner. His academic credentials include a Doctor of Philosophy in Business and Management, two Master's degrees (one in General Business and another in Production & Operations Management) and a Bachelor's degree in Economics with distinction. This strong educational foundation provides him with a deep understanding of economic principles, business management and strategic thinking. He has also worked in government for the Republic of Zambia as Socio-economic Planner and Chief Housing Officer and in the banking and insurance sector for ABSA, formerly Barclays PLC.